BIG MEET HELD IN MILBANK QUADRANGLE

Hurdle Races, Discus Throwing and Dancing Are Events on Programme.

The Milbank Quadrangle, though given to Barnard College many years ago by Mrs. A. A. Anderson, received its first real athletic christening yesterday. Partly because it was a fine spring day and partly to supplement exercises in the Linkerhoff Theatre commemorating the gift, boomer-bled girls took possession of the quadrangle and ran races, hurdled, jumped, hurled the discus and threw a baseball, cheered on by admiring Columbia students.

The day started with the exercises in the theatre, with Dean Gildersleeve presiding. He first spoke a few words about Barnard's growth and what the campus had meant to him—how it was the "biggest gift the college had ever received."

The speaker of the occasion, Miss Josephine Blocher, assistant director of physical training in the New York City high schools, spoke of the value of athletics.

Lillian Schoeller, Barnard, '11, told of the work of the Intercollegiate Women's Athletic Club, and presented plans for the coming year, including trips out of town, horseback riding and intercollegiate contests.

At this point Isabel Totten, '15, directed the assembled gathering out to the campus, where the athletic events were held. The hit of the afternoon, however, was the sale of ice cream.

A long row of white hurdles drew the crowd to the west side of the field, where the hurdlers raced to the goal amid the cheers of their comrades and many Columbia brethren crowding the windows of the Engineering Building, across Broadway.

Ruth Jensen, '17, came in first, with Katharine Williams, '15, second, and J. Rosenbaum, '16, third.

Shot-put came next, and first place was easily taken by M. Hillas, '15, second and third by M. Britain, '14, and W. Boegehold, '14.

High jump was won by P. Gubner, '16, with second and third C. Weiss, '16, and R. Lawrence, '17.

Hurling the discus moved the crowd to the other side of the field, where they saw M. Hillas, '15, again victorious, with L. Petri, '14, and Pollitzer, '17, in next.

The dashes proved an exciting event. The 75-yard dash was won by M. Britain, '14, and the 50-yard dash by D. Stanbrough, '15.

A new event on the programme was an athletic folk dance by "evens" against "odds." The latter were judged to be the best terpsichorean performers and carried off 5 points easily.

The events retailed when the senior class came out first in the basketball throw (L. Petri, '14), and the odds, in turn, walked off with first place (M. Hillas, '15) in throwing the baseball.

Relay races decided the day for the freshmen, for they split points with 1916 for first place and came out ahead. The final event of the day was the championship tennis match, a close game between H. Gilleaudeau, '15, last year's champion, and H. Alexander, '17. The latter won, and the freshmen cheered their victory. Points stood at 32½ for the freshmen, 50½ for the juniors, 38 for the sophomores and 35 for the seniors, who left for home rather early, carrying their gold and brown banner and singing.

Silver cups and banners were then distributed. Marjorie Hillas, '15, got the silver cup for the highest number of individual points, of which she made 15. Lucy Petri, '14, and Marjorie Britain, '14, tied for second place, with 8 points each.

A celebration was held by the cheerful freshmen on the campus.

Miss Mary Porter Boege, director of physical education at Barnard, trained the girls and supervised the events.

On the committee served Isabel Totten, chairman; E. Mayer, '14; E. Wallace, '16; L. Kelly, '16; M. Hillas, '15; F. Wobser, '17.

ASK $30,000 FOR BULLDOG'S BITES

Wife Who Was Bitten Sues for
$25,000, and Husband Wants
$5,000 Additional.

Because of the ferocity of a French bulldog belonging to Mrs. Malcolm D. Whitman, daughter of Colonel Frederick Crocker, of California, and the wife of Malcolm D. Whitman, former tennis champion, the Westminster Kennel Club is being sued for $30,000 damages in two suits.

Mrs. Whitman, who is a regular exhibitor at the bench shows of the Westminster Kennel Club, entered at the Grand Central Palace show last February Le Noir II, a dog with a pedigree, which is said to be ferocious. The dog, it is alleged, "bit, clawed, attacked and lacerated" Mrs. Jane L. Coughlin, of 63 West 10th st., also an exhibitor.

Mrs. Coughlin is suing the club for $25,000 for the injuries inflicted by the dog, and her husband, Joseph Coughlin, is suing for $5,000 for the loss of his wife's services during the time she was recovering from the bites of the Whitman dog. Mrs. Coughlin said she also suffered a severe nervous shock and that the Westminster Kennel Club knew Le Noir II was a vicious animal, but that no effort was made to protect exhibitors.

TEARS DOWN RED FLAG

Veteran Then Hoists Stars and Stripes at Cemetery.

When Albert Welsh, a Civil War veteran of Dover, N. J., went to decorate graves of comrades in Locust Hill Cemetery yesterday, he found a red banner flying from the top of a tree. The specialists were holding the May Day parade.

Welsh tore down the emblem and collected money to buy an American flag. A procession of men, women and children marched to the cemetery and hoisted the new flag, while "The Star-Spangled Banner" and other patriotic airs were sung. A salute was fired from shotguns.
